Death of Alfred Bourdeau, After Service in the United States Army-Practical Addresses at Farmers' Institute-Dairy Commissioner Harwood's Talk to Milk Producers-Miss Helen Thompson's Address.

There are not cows enough in Massa-chusetts, or Rhode Island, either, to feed the people of those states. Con-densed milk comes in as competitor. Each of these cans should bear the label of formula of milk for family use. When the allowed amount of water is when the allowed amount of water is added this condensed product should be required to come to the official standard test. He said it was an imposition on the public to advertise cooked milk for use as preferable to raw milk, especially when fed to infants. Milk is never so digestible as fants. Milk is never so digestible as when it is raw, although pasteurized milk is less injurious than sterilized milk. The quicker milk is used the better it is for the consumers. So it is up to the dairymen to furnish fresh, clean milk, and the consumers, Mr. Harwood said, would be glad to pay a slight advance for the pure article.

He denounced the sensational news

An institute under the auspices of the Rhode Island state board of agriculture and under the personal supervision of Secretary John J. Dunn of Westerly was held in the assembly hall of the Public Library and Memorial building Monday afternoon, when addresses were made by Dairy Commissioner P. M. Harwood of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture.

President William L. Clark of the Westerly town council presided and in opening welcomed the large assemblage and predicted that the addresses on Dairying and Home Economics would be the occasion of pleasure and profit. He gave illustrations of the vast agricultural industries of the country, giving interesting figures from official sources, showing that the farmers were the mainstay, the basis of the universe.

The Cost of Carelessness

Neglect of a "common" cold is so often the direct cause of dangerous disease that medical men cannot understand why so many people allow a cold, with its attendant cough, to run its course unchecked. Aside from the unpleasantness and annoyance, the resulting irritation of the mucous membrane in the throat, lungs and bronchial organs leaves them sore and very susceptible to attack.

With the first indication of a cold, take steps to check it at once. A simple, inexpensive remedy can be prepared at home by mixing two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. You can buy these in any drug store and easily mix them in a large bottle. It is claimed by the Leach Chemical Co., of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuing Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, that a teaspoonful of this mixture, four times a day, will break a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable.
